CLIMATE The Buffalo hunting area enjoys a tropical climate with hot, humid and wet summers and warm to hot, dry winters. Our hunting season is confined to the winter months from May to October when you can expect dry conditions and daytime temperatures between 25 and 35 Celsius (75 to 95 Fahrenheit) and nights between 8 and 20 Celsius (40 to 70 Fahrenheit). Rainfall is an extremely rare occurrence during the hunting season. (The coolest months are June to August)

CLOTHING In the tropics dull green, khaki or camouflage clothing in cotton or other light material and stout boots are recommended for hunting. One warm jacket is all that is required for the colder evenings. Two to three changes and one pair of camp footwear are all that is required as a daily laundry service is included in our rates. A light weight, wide brimmed hat is recommended.

HEALTH Australia is free of all major communicable diseases including malaria. However we recommend visitors ensure that they have current vaccinations for tetanus and polio. All our camp facilities are screened to exclude insects and repellents are freely available in camp. Supplies of sunscreen to protect against sunburn are also provided.

FIREARMS There is no specified minimum caliber for dangerous game in Australia but if you wish to bring your own rifle we recommend a caliber no smaller than 9.3mm (.366 caliber) with a muzzle energy of at least 3,500ftlb and bullet weight of at least 285gr for hunting Water Buffalo and Scrub Bull. A rifle over .400 caliber would be ideal.

BOW HUNTING Is legal for all species and we have a 100% success rate on Buffalo, Scrub Bull and Boar with Bow hunters using all styles, Compound, Recurve and Long Bows. Recommended arrows for buffalo need to be strong, as heavy as practical and fitted with a two blade broadhead. Effective shooting range is between 15 and 25 yards.

Travel Arrangements We are not travel agents but we will furnish you with full advice on the most appropriate flights and travel arrangements according to your needs and assist with hotel bookings and selection.
